

AROUND KENTUCKY

Ky. educator to lead university

ORONO, Maine (AP) — University of Maine System trustees on Monday unanimously approved the appointment of Allyson Hughes Handley as president of the University of Maine at Augusta.

Handley is now a policy adviser for the Kentucky Council on Post-secondary Education. She previously served as president of two colleges: Midway College in Kentucky and Cogswell College in California.